Atlantic City's Senior High School, facing Albany Avenue Circle, is one of the best equipped school buildings in the state, with an attendance of over 2500 students. The building, of modern architecture, is of beautiful gray brick covered with ivy. The organ in the auditorium is one of the finest in any educational building in America.

The Memorial at the right, housing a statue by Frederick MacMonnies, was built in 1922 to commemorate World War I.
